SAMPLE PLOT PLAN

GOOD NEIGHBOR GUIDELINES DURING CONSTRUCTION

1. Communication – Inform your neighbors what you're planning to do. In case the work gets too noisy, and it will, they at least won't be finding it out on the day itself. Keeping them informed also gives them a chance to plan around your construction.

2. Providing Access – Sometimes, access to the worksite would mean cutting through somebody else's property. Sometimes, having trucks and equipment around your house would mean denying your neighbors access to theirs. Whatever the case may be, discuss it beforehand with your neighbors. If possible, schedule your construction around their busy hours so you give as little disturbance to their lives as possible.

3. Safety Issues – Safety can also be a source of concern for both you and your neighbors. This is especially true if they have small children or pets who might get in the way of your exterior remodeling and roofing contractors. Talk to your team of professionals about their safety measures and make sure to give your neighbors a friendly heads-up as well.

4. Quiet Times– Remind your construction crew that quiet times in the neighborhood is from 10pm to 7am. Work should not start before or continue after those times.

5. Clean work site – Please remind your work crews that all garbage must be pickup daily; that includes food wrappers from lunches. We have a dense population of wildlife that rummage through dirty sites and will knock over garbage cans dragging the garbage across the neighborhood.

6. Once work is completed – Take the time to, again, canvass the neighborhood. Go door to door and thank each neighbor in person for their patience during your remodel.
