Surfside Members, the Community Relations Committee would like to hear from you!

The committee plans many events and classes over the year for the members and their guests.

What kind of event or class would you interested in attending? The following are a few ideas of things we've done in the past or are currently doing.

Spring Plantings -It's a great way to gather the community together to help clean up common areas, plant flowers, and brighten up the neighborhood.

Nature Walks/Guided Hikes – our area is blessed with great landscaping and beautiful parks, nature walks are excellent for health-conscious folks, it's also a great way to get kids and new residents to explore the community.

Summer Cookouts - A summer cookout can be a wonderfully inexpensive way to bring the whole community together. For the most budget-friendly option, turn it into a potluck so that you can have a good variety of food without too much expense.

Garage Sales- Community-wide garage sales are a fun way to clean out those garages, make new friends, and earn a little money for future events.

Arts/Craft Classes – We have had quite a few art events such as Sip n Paint, Holiday card making, Wreath making and Ceramics making classes.

Games Nights – we currently have Bunco once a month

Educational Speakers – new classes on Medicare, wills, and trusts

Beach or Cabana games ie. Volleyball, bocce ball

What fun activities would you participate in? We welcome your ideas! Please email the Surfside office at office@surfsideonline.org or just drop them off at the office.

April Showers Bring...Noxious Weeds??

What is a noxious weed? The USDA defines noxious weed plants as "those that can directly or indirectly cause problems for agriculture, natural resources, wildlife, recreation, navigation, public health or the environment." They are broken down even further into classes of weeds that may require eradication by landowners. Class A weeds are generally newcomers to Washington, are usually rare and landowners are required to completely eradicate them. Class B weeds may be more prevalent in some areas than others and landowners may or may not be required to eradicate them. Class C weeds are widespread. A landowner may be required to eradicate them if they pose a threat to local agriculture or natural resources.

Why should you care about noxious weed? Noxious weeds can affect all of us directly and indirectly through loss of wildlife and fish habitat, damage to trails and roads, displacing native species, injuring trees and forests, increasing fire hazards, and causing injury to humans. Plus, it is against the law to allow noxious weeds to grow on your property. You may have to pay for the eradication of noxious weeds on your property if you refuse to remove them.

One of the worst noxious weeds is tansy ragwort. All parts of it are toxic to humans and animals and can cause liver and brain damage. Direct contact is not necessary for toxic contamination, it can be passed through the food chain. Another dangerous noxious weed is giant hogweed. It produces a toxic sap that can lead to severe burns and even blindness if it gets in the eyes. Giant hogweed hasn't been found in Pacific County, but, has been found in surrounding counties. We need to be vigilant that we don't transport it or plant it in our area.

Two noxious weeds that everyone in Surfside is aware of or should be aware of, is Scotch broom and gorse. They may look similar when seen from a distance as they both have yellow flowers and grow in the same habitat. It is easy to spot the difference up close as gorse has long, spiny thorns. They are class B noxious weeds and control of them is mandatory. Please see the attached chart for a list of noxious weeds in Pacific County for which control is mandatory.

Gorse plants have showy, pea-shaped yellow flowers (above) and sharp, spinelike leaves 1/2 to 2 inches long (right).

RCW 17.10 RCW 17.10 (Revised Code of Washington) is the state's basic weed law.
